PAINTINGS OF EASTERN TURKISH ARCHITECTURE

By Richard Yeomans

Richard Yeomans studied painting at Coventry College of Art and the University of Newcastle-on-Tyne during the 1960s. He trained as a secondary teacher at Goldsmiths' College, London, and later gained an MA at Birmingham Polytechnic and a PhD at the Institute of Education, University of London. In 1975 he was a Teaching Fellow at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. Until his retirement, he was a senior lecturer in art at the Institute of Education, University of Warwick. Since the 1960s, Richard Yeomans has travelled widely in the Muslim world and his studies of Islamic art and architecture provide the content of his paintings and books. His book, The Art and Architecture of Islamic Cairo, provided the content for Cairo, the last exhibition he held at the Institute of Arab and Islamic Studies. Since then Turkey has been the focus of his attention resulting in this exhibition inspired principally by Selçuk architecture and the landscape of eastern Turkey.
